DETAILS

Employment

Wright, Long and Company
Certified Public Accounts
247 Park Avenue,
New York, New York

[redacted] above firm, on February 3, 1961, advised that he met the appointee shortly after the appointee resigned from the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). He said that the appointee wanted to become associated with an accounting firm in New York inasmuch as he, BELLINO, had some accounts in New Jersey that he wanted a firm to handle. [redacted] stated that for reasons which he does not recall now, he did not accept the accounts at this particular time.

He related that in 1949, or 1950, BELLINO called him to Washington to talk with a representative from General Services Administration (GSA) about accepting an assignment to conduct an investigation of a company in Greece which was shipping bauxite to Germany. It was felt by officials of GSA that some of this bauxite was being shipped into Russia. [redacted] stated he does not recall the name of the company in Greece at this time. He said the appointee was to conduct the investigation, and he, [redacted] was persuaded to accept the assignment for his firm. He said this was the beginning of BELLINO's association with the firm.

[redacted] stated that he supervised and reviewed the report that BELLINO prepared concerning this investigation, and that with the exception of making a few changes, the appointee did a marvelous job.

He said that Mr. BELLINO is a partner in the firm, with respect only to the New Jersey accounts which BELLINO brought into the firm. He said the appointee has never performed any work for the firm in the City of New York.

[redacted] stated his association with the appointee has been on a business relationship only, and he has never associated with him socially. He considers the appointee to be an individual who is honest, trustworthy, and a very modest person, and he has never had any reason to question his character or loyalty. He said there are no other individuals in the New York Office who would know the appointee inasmuch as he was the only one who supervised the appointee's work. He said that inasmuch as contact with the appointee was on a business relationship, he could suggest the names of no other individuals in New York who would know the appointee.

J., thanking Mr. O'Hara for the invitation for the Director to attend the testimonial dinner. The invitation was declined due to previously scheduled official commitments but wishes were expressed for a highly successful event.

Attorney General and Mrs. ROBERT F. KENNEDY arrived Newark Airport approximately 6:30 p.m., 4/23/61, attended the dinner and departed the Essex House about 10:15 p.m. to make return flight to Washington, D. C. Some 1200 persons attended the dinner. FRANK HOLMES, former Bureau Agent, served as toastmaster. A number of former Bureau Agents were in attendance including JAMES McINERNEY, EDGAR PARKHURST, and JOHN DINSMORE, all of Washington, D. C.; JOSEPH HORNE, Peoria, Illinois; State Senator JOHN DEVLIN, Pittsburgh, Pa.; RALPH LE PORE, Wheeling, West Virginia; RALPH BATCH, JOHN J. KELLY, Newark, N. J., and others. U. S. Senators PATRICK V. McNAMARA of Michigan; HARRISON A. WILLIAMS, JR. of New Jersey, together with some U. S. Congressmen were in attendance.

A telegram to Mr. BELLINO from President JOHN F. KENNEDY was read. Telegrams from U. S. Senator JOHN L. McCLELLAN, Arkansas, and others were mentioned as having been received.

The Director's letter to Mr. O'Hara was read by the toastmaster and brought a good round of applause.

The Attorney General spoke briefly but did not specifically mention the FBI. He praised Mr. BELLINO for his integrity and honesty and stated that no name is going to rank higher than BELLINO's in the annals of governmental investigators. He stated that BELLINO had taken part in eighty per cent of all major investigations conducted by the Rackets Committee and at times had used assumed names to conceal his true identity during investigations.

JFK appointee honored by 1,200

More than 1,200 persons, including Attorney General and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, last night attended a testimonial dinner honoring Carmine S. Bellino on his appointment as special consultant to President John F. Kennedy.

The guests, most of them from Bellino's native Elizabeth, jammed the Elizabethan Room of the Hotel Essex House in Newark to hear Kennedy and others honor Bellino.

Among the hundreds of congratulatory telegrams received was one from the President, who wired that "I regret that I can't be with you . . . good wishes . . ."

Bellino, in addition to his special consultant post, will also act as an advisor to the director of the national budget. He is a certified public accountant and a former FBI agent who helped capture John Dillinger in Chicago in 1934. He served as an investigator for the Senate Rackets Committee under Robert Kennedy when it probed labor union rackets.

Kennedy said he was "delighted" to attend the dinner and said "my brother, the President, feels very fortunate to have Carmine Bellino by his side."

Kennedy praised Bellino's "integrity and honesty" and added that "no name is going to rank higher" than Bellino's in the annals of governmental investigators.

Kennedy said Bellino had taken part in "80 per cent of all major investigations" conducted by the Rackets Committee.

SUBJECT: EXAMINATION OF CERTIFICATE OF APOSTOLIC BLESSING AWARDED TO
MR. CARMINE BELLINO

Assistant Director Courtney Evans brought to the Laboratory last night a certificate of Apostolic Blessing awarded to Mr. Carmine Bellino on November 27, 1961. He requested that it be examined to determine its method of preparation.

The certificate was examined with the aid of ultraviolet light and infrared radiation, infrared luminescence and special photographic techniques. It was found that the entire certificate, including the elaborate illumination, engrossing and signature, was prepared by hand, excluding the portrait.

The signature was written with carbon ink similar to India ink, over an area from which a previous writing had been removed by physical abrasion. Remnants of lines of the previous writing were observed to contain what appear to be carbon particles. It is a reasonable assumption that the writing which was removed was a signature written in carbon ink.

It may be that these certificates, because of their elaborate nature, are prepared in advance, including the signature. Upon the death of the previous Pope there likely was a supply of these certificates already signed and, in the interest of time and economy, the signatures were removed. The text of the certificate indicates in the use of the plural verb form "beg" and plural pronouns "they" and "their" that this is a certificate prepared for issuance to two or more individuals, although it was actually issued to one person.

RECOMMENDATION: That this memorandum be directed to Assistant Director Courtney Evans who will advise the Attorney General orally of its contents.

47st GOP Senator Says Kennedy Friends Profit

By Robert J. Donovan
Chief Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R., Neb., charged yesterday that the government-controlled General Aniline Film & Dye Corp. is being used by the Administration to provide "patronage" for two friends of the Kennedys.

He cited these cases, both of which originated a year ago:

1. General Aniline's advertising account, reportedly worth $1.5 million a year, was awarded to Lennen & Newell, Inc., 380 Madison Ave., New York, whose vice-president is K. Lemoyne Billings, a personal friend of President Kennedy and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy. In fact, Mr. Billings has been one of the President's best friends since they were schoolmates at Choate, in Wallingford, Conn.

2. General Aniline's accounting business, reportedly worth $65,000 a year, was given to Wright, Long & Co., 2 Park Ave., New York, which has had association with Carmine Bellino, a special consultant to the President and the Budget Director. He was chief accountant to the Senate Rackets Committee when Robert Kennedy was its chief counsel.

"We are all familiar with the fact," Sen. Curtis told the Senate, "that private businesses operated by the Federal government become a warm haven for high-salaried patronage employees."

REC-15

"When the American President Lines were operated by the Maritime Commission the story was the same. Many illustrious politicians went from party service to top-ranking spots in American President Lines. The same is equally true in the General Aniline situation and was true throughout the administrations of Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and the current Administration."

General Aniline, whose executive offices are at 111 W. 50th St., New York, produces films, cameras, chemicals and dye stuffs. It is owned by German nationals, but was vested as alien property during World War II. Under the law, the Attorney General, whoever he may be, controls 97 per cent of the stock and thus can handpick the board that runs the company.

Attorney General [redacted] was out of the city yesterday, but his office recalled that he had previously commented on these same two cases, which have been aired before.

His previous comment on the Billings case was to compliment the General Aniline board for having given the advertising contract to Lennen & Newell. He pointed out that the president of the firm, Adolf J. Toigo, is also listed in "Who's Who" as a "political adviser to the Republican party."

As for the accounting business, the Attorney General believed that it was wise practice to change accounting firms with a change in administrations. Thus, according to his office, he consulted Mr. Bellino and the account was switched to Wright, Long & Co. It had been held by the New York firm of Arthur Andersen & Co., which, incidentally, does the family accounting work of the Kennedys.

Neither Mr. Billings nor Mr. Bellino was available for comment yesterday.

At the Justice Department it was said that Mr. Bellino's only relationship with Wright, Long & Co. is an association in some small accounts he had handled as an accountant in Elizabethtown, N. J., and had turned over to the firm.

Sen. Curtis told the Senate: "Mr. Bellino is reported to have said that he is not a partner of Wright, Long & Co., but he has worked with them since 1950 and is their resident agent in Washington. . . . His name is carried on the directory of the building at 247 Park Ave. as an occupant of the space in which Wright, Long & Co. is headquartered."

Sen. Curtis also referred to newspaper accounts that had quoted Mr. Billings to the effect that he did not personally handle General Aniline business and had done nothing more than "introduce some people."

"What more political influence can come," the Senator asked, "from close to the White House?"

Under the Eisenhower administration the advertising account of General Aniline was handled by Benton & Bowles, according to Sen. Curtis.

"Actually," he said, "the gravamen of the whole situation is the fact that the government continues to operate a competitive industry which boasts of assets of $170 million and which employs 8,000 persons. It is operated by directors picked by the Attorney General, and it is obvious that the attributes of a private business, namely, legal fees, auditing fees and advertising fees, find their way to the faithful."

Action Is Urged

The Senator noted that "there is no apparent disposition on the part of the government to divest itself and permit the corporation to operate as a normal business."

"It does appear," he declared, "that in this seventeenth year following the end of World War II we should be getting to the place where a large and important industrial enterprise can return to normal operation."

A year ago, Attorney General Kennedy said he would be delighted to have the government sell General Aniline and get out of the business. The Alien Property Act under which it was seized, however, provides that vested property may not be sold while there is any pending litigation involving it. Litigation over the ownership of General Aniline stock has been in the courts for years, and no end is in sight. A bill has been introduced in Congress to permit the sale despite litigation, but it has not got far.

Bobby Kennedy Passes the Gravy

WASHINGTON.—The Kennedy family began paying off political debts last month, and Caroline Bellino, the bookkeeper for the anti-labor McClellan Committee was one of the first to collect.

Bellino, who is waiting for J. Edgar Hoover to retire so that he can take over the FBI, was selected to do the auditing for the General Aniline and Film Corporation. Bellino represents the Wright, Long and Company bookkeeping firm.

General Aniline is a formerly German-owned corporation that was seized by the United States during World War II. It has never been returned. It has been used by the Justice Department for political pay-offs for years, and under Attorney-General Kennedy there has been no change in policy.

In addition to the award to Bellino, the Kennedys also rewarded their old friend LeMoyné Billings with the $1,500,000 advertising account of General Aniline.

John Snyder, General Aniline's chief executive officer and a Democratic Party fund-raiser, resigned shortly after the awards to Bellino and Billings, stating he was "fed-up" with "political interference."

Bobbie Kennedy denied using the big corporation for political pay-offs. He said, "I introduced a few people" to management executives of General Aniline. "I congratulate them on the excellence of their choice," he added.

Other management officials of General Aniline told newsmen that it was not just Bobbie interfering with the internal operation of the company. They said that President Kennedy sent his executive assistant Andrew Oehmann to New York last April with instructions to transfer the advertising, auditing, and legal accounts to friends of the Kennedy family.

The following on con-man presently under indictment in Tampa, Florida, for fraudulent scheming, is set forth:

He was one of four subjects who swindled a Clearwater, Florida, widow out of over $17,000. The victim was told that the subjects were involved in negotiating a five hundred million dollar loan for Catholic institutions abroad. They stated they expected a ten million dollar profit, had a letter from the Vatican, and needed to travel to Rome, Italy, to secure Papal approval. They offered the victim an opportunity to invest in the scheme.

The Federal Grand Jury in Tampa returned a true bill on March 13, 1962, in which all subjects were charged with violations of the Fraud by Wire Statute (Title 18, Section 1343) and abetting (Title 18, Section 2). Specifically concerning in addition to the conspiracy the indictment set out that a Western Union money order was sent by the victim from Clearwater, Florida, to Frankfurt, Germany, in the amount of $500 payable to and also a subsequent money order was sent to him in the amount of $2,000. was arrested by Bureau Agents March 1, 1962, at Washington, D. C. The other subjects were arrested March 1, 1962, in the Los Angeles area by Bureau Agents. Judge Matthew F. McGarr, Chief Judge, ordered removed to Tampa March 29, 1962, and reduced his bond to $5,000.

is also involved in a case involving counterfeit Shell Union Oil Corporation bonds. In Frankfurt, Germany, in January of 1961, passed three $1,000 bonds which were similar to $720,000 worth of bonds recovered by the Bureau in a Bureau case. Although eight other individuals have been indicted in this case and are presently scheduled for trial, operation was independent of the operation for which the eight were indicted. After arrest he gave us certain information which we are now checking out in Frankfurt, Germany.

KENNEDYS' FRIENDS ARE SAID TO PROFIT

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—Senator Carl Curtis, Republican of Nebraska, told the Senate today that advertising and auditing contracts of a Government-controlled corporation had gone to friends of President Kennedy and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

Senator Curtis said "political maneuvering of this Administration" had caused a shake-up in directors and contracts of the General Aniline and Film Corporation.

The Government took control of the foreign-owned concern during World War II under the Trading With the Enemy Act. The $170,000,000 corporation still is controlled by directors and officials named by the Attorney General.

Mr. Curtis said General Aniline's advertising account, which he said is worth $225,000 to $250,000 a year, was switched to the New York firm of Lennen & Newell, Inc. He noted that K. LeMoyné Billings, a personal friend and former schoolmate of President Kennedy, is vice president of the advertising concern.

A General Aniline spokesman in New York confirmed last January that Lennen & Newell had taken over the account in April, 1961. The spokesman said Reach, McClinton & Co., which had held the contract for the corporation's Anso and Ozalid divisions, had "resigned" and the new contract was negotiated.

Mr. Curtis said an auditing contract, worth $65,000 a year in the past, had been given to Wright, Long & Co., also of New York City. He said the Washington agent for the concern was Carmine Bellino, who worked closely with Attorney General Kennedy on the staff of the old Senate rackets committee.

A Justice Department spokesman said the points raised by Mr. Curtis have been brought up several times during the last year.

Neither Mr. Billings or Mr. Bellino was available for comment tonight.

EAR TO THE GROUND: WASHINGTON.

Exit Bellino

CARMINE BELLINO will be the next member of President Kennedy's staff to leave the White House.

Tho he seldom basked in the limelight, Mr. Bellino was one of JFK's most trusted advisers. He is a certified public accountant and a whiz on investigations.

As a special consultant, he operated without portfolio, but not without a briefcase.

During the 1960 campaign, no one stayed closer to JFK than Mr. Bellino. Wherever the Democratic candidate went, Mr. Bellino followed. And he always carried his briefcase.

Only a trusted few knew exactly what was in it, but the word quickly spread that it was ammunition to be used if mudballs started flying in the race. The briefcase never was opened.

Mr. Bellino was discovered by Bob Kennedy when they worked together on the Senate Rackets Committee. It was Mr. Bellino who dug up much of the dirt on Jimmy Hoffa.

Bob Kennedy quickly learned that Mr. Bellino is a tough, brilliant man who could spot in minutes a cover-up in a set of books and prove his assumption with facts. When it came time for JFK's campaign, Mr. Bellino was drafted for new work.

By George Clifford and Tom Kelly

An exact date for Mr. Bellino's departure has not been set—his resignation has not yet been accepted by President Johnson—but he will go within the next 30 days.

His exit—coupled with the resignation of Ted Sorensen, Arthur Schlesinger Jr., and Ted Reardon—already has tongues wagging.

Speculation is that there has been a major break between the Kennedy and Johnson forces. That is not so.

Each of the White House aides had a special reason for going. Friends say Mr. Bellino is leaving to pursue his business as a tax consultant.

They point out that Mr. Bellino is still performing assignments for the White House, a most unlikely occurrence if there was a genuine rift.

Mr. Bellino, they assert, now feels that there are others capable of doing the things JFK thought he did best.

The Irish Mafia is losing its faculty adviser.

By letter dated 10/20/70 the Attorney General (AG) instructed us to cooperate fully with Senator Gurney in connection with inquiries he is making during a trip abroad in 11/70. Enclosed to the AG's letter is a letter dated 10/16/70 from Senator John L. McClellan (D), Arkansas, Chairman of the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, revealing that Gurney, a member of the Subcommittee, accompanied by his Administrative Assistant [redacted]

[redacted] Subcommittee Minority Counsel; [redacted] Assistant Counsel to the Subcommittee; and Carmine S. Bellino, Investigator for the Subcommittee, plans to inquire into corruption, bribery, and black market activities involving military service clubs overseas. Their travels will take them to both Asia and Europe.

While we have been asked to cooperate, it is observed that none of these matters come within our scope of responsibility. We feel, therefore, that the Legats should cooperate only to the extent of making appropriate introductions of members of Gurney's group to local agencies to which the group may wish to address their requests.

We enjoy excellent relations with Senator McClellan; however, our files show that we have received 176 NOV 11 1970 from sources indicating that the Ku Klux Klan supported Gurney in his campaign for senator, and in return he has assisted Klan members in obtaining jobs. According to our files, [redacted] has been described as an opportunist, conceited, not friendly towards the FBI, and would be antagonistic towards us if this would serve his purpose. [redacted] appears to be identical with the subject of a Departmental applicant investigation conducted in 1954 which contains no unfavorable information. Bellino is a former Special Agent who served in the Bureau from 3/34 to 3/45, when he voluntarily resigned. He was a special consultant to former President Kennedy; and, in connection with a Washington Capital News Service release of 10/8/69 relating to a Senate investigation of military clubs in which Bellino was shown as an accountant for the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, the Director noted, "I wouldn't believe Bellino under oath." No information appears in our files concerning [redacted]
